OUR TOWN

The Herald does not endorse the schedule of rates governing transfer charges for pupils residing outside the district. We believe the injunction suit brought by citizens should be sustained by the higher courts and that some adjustment should be made to modify the excessive charges. The Herald does not believe pupils should be exempt from charges. The transfer charges should not be higher than the tax privileges paid by citizens who live in the city. At $50 per pupil in the high school the charge is equivalent to taxes on a $7000 valuation on the tax roll and at half value $14,000. The average patron with three children in school is required to pay a tribute equivalent to $21,000 on the roll and $63,000 at half value, accounting that property is rendered at approximately that ratio. Pupils who reside outside the district should have a transfer charge but should not be required to pay excessive charges. Does it cost more to accommodate a pupil in high school from outside the district than one from within the district?

Here is a test of a great people who deserve their freedom. Under a parental despotism, the order of the State is preserved, and life and property are protected, by the strong arm of the government. A measure of liberty—that is, safety from irregular violence—is secured by the constant presence of that military power, which is the great engine of subjection. But under a free government, there is nothing but the intelligence of the people to keep the people's peace. Order must be preserved, not by a military police or regiments of horseguards; but by the spontaneous concert of a well-informed population, resolved that the rights which have been rescued from despotism shall not be subverted by anarchy.—Edward Everett.

LEGION CREATES FUND TO BUILD HOME HERE

OFFICERS NOMINATED FOR 1926 TRUSTEES FOR FUND NAMED

Edwin Hardy Post No. 9 American Legion at Cameron began a new year with the meeting held Tuesday night and with the new year the post has created a trust fund for a new building to be erected here by the post when sufficient funds have been set aside.

The post now has $1000 in its building fund. A. F. Mitchell, for several years post commander, last year gave post $500 and in this gift is joined by Mrs. Mitchell. The post has created a fund and three trustees have been named. Mr. Mitchell is the trustee from the post. Two others are to be announced later.

The post nominated its officers for the ensuing year. They are as follows and will be elected at the next meeting which will be the first Tuesday night in February:

J. B. White, Post commander; E. B. Hess, Burlington, first vice commander; Louis Larza, Buckholts, second vice commander; L. Van Perkins, adjutant; J. C. Tucker, finance officer.

The post has appointed a committee of three to undertake the organization of an auxiliary to the post.

Among other matters of business transacted was the vote to move the post meeting place from the Reno building to the Fahrendorf building over the Bluebonnet Cafe and this building is to be occupied jointly by the legion and the Business and Professional Women of Cameron.

NOTICE BUSINESS & PROFESSIONAL WOMEN

The Business and Professional Women's Club will hold a regular monthly meeting next Tuesday evening, February 2 at the usual hour. Miss Mary Lake Henderson is chairman of the program and with her able assistance will provide the diversion of the evening.

All members are urged to be present and to bring with them their regular monthly dues and hand it to the secretary, Miss Minnie Nell Blaylock.

INJUNCTION DENIED BY COURT HERE IS GRANTED AT AUSTIN

NEW GROCERY STORE FOR CAMERON MARCH 1

JEFF D. HEFLEY WILL ESTABLISH BUSINESS HERE MARCH 1

Jeff D. Hefley will establish a cash grocery business in Cameron to open about March 1.

It will be a cash and carry store to be operated on the plan of the Piggly Wiggly and the Saunders stores. Mr. Hefley will sell for cash, giving the customer the benefit of every possible cut in overhead, he says.

The building will occupy the south side of the Hefley building formerly occupied by the Henne and Meyer business.

Mr. Hefley is to be congratulated on his enterprise and his friends are interested in his success.

THERESA JENSEN FOR SECRETARY-TREASURER

POPULAR CAMERON YOUNG WOMAN WIDELY SUPPORTED FOR PLACE

Miss Theresa Jensen is a candidate for the office of City Secretary and Treasurer subject to the primary election on Tuesday February 9, 1926.

The announcement that Miss Jensen will seek this office was made here Tuesday following a wide solicitation on the part of her friends that she become a candidate for this office.

Following the announcement by Miss Jensen that she will seek this office her many friends have offered her generous support and are pleased with the announcement.

At present Miss Jensen is with the Fidelity Abstract Company and prior to the time she became associated with this firm she was with the Milam County Abstract Company. Her experience has been generous both in point of business contact as well as clerical service and she has a complete and efficient knowledge of books, records and their operation and in this way is eminently qualified for the place she seeks at the hands of the people.

Miss Jensen in offering for this place promises the people a conscientious and attentive service and at all times will give her personal attention to the work of this important department of the city government. She appeals to her friends throughout the city to give their vote and support and she assures them that it will be gratefully appreciated and she will reward the people with faithful service.

In the proper column in this issue of The Herald will appear the name of Miss Jensen for the office she seeks.

PRESBYTERIAN AUXILIARY

The Auxiliary met at the Presbyterian church Monday afternoon. Mrs. Ben P. Atkinson, Mission Secretary, led the Mission Study Lesson the subject being " How prayer works in missions." The second week in February will be Loyalty Week. On Monday February 8 an all day meeting at the church will be held with lunch served for all. All members are urged to attend. On Wednesday February 10, an afternoon meeting will be held at the church and a review of the Mission Study Book, "Prayer in Missions," will be given. An offering for Loyalty Week will be taken that afternoon and a large attendance is desired.

Mrs. F. M. Tuttle spent Tuesday with her daughter, Mrs. Vest in Tempie and reports that Mrs. Vest is recovering nicely from a recent operation but is still unable to sit up. If possible she will be removed to Mrs. Tuttle's home here next Sunday.

J. M. Ralston returned from Brenham where he attended the funeral of his brother, C. S. Ralston who died at Dallas on Monday. The funeral was held here on Tuesday. Deceased was 68 years of age and a native of Missouri, coming to Texas when a small boy. He is survived by his wife and five children.

C. W. BRADBURY BUYS INTEREST IN FIRM HERE

LOUIS S. PIERCE SELLS INTEREST TO MANAGER OF CAMERON STORE

C. W. Bradbury has purchased an interest and is now part owner of the Louis S. Pierce dry goods store in Cameron. The deal by which he becomes a part owner of the business here was closed Monday of this week.

Mr. Bradbury has been manager of the store for several years and has a wide circle of friends here who will be interested in his purchase of a part of the business. He is an experienced dry goods man having been engaged in the business for a number of years, and he has been successful.

JUDD G. DAVIS TO RUN FOR OFFICE OF MAYOR

MAYOR SEEKS RE-ELECTION TO HEAD CITY GOVERNMENT HERE

Judd G. Davis, for the past two years mayor of the city of Cameron, has announced as a candidate for re-election to that office and The Herald has been authorized by him to place his name in the proper column of announcements.

Mr. Davis in offering for this place has the support of his friends and he seeks re-election on the record he has made as Mayor and the desire he has for better and bigger service to the people.

Mr. Davis has been in office two years and during that time the city has progressed well. Among the acts of the administration was the purchase of a fire truck, increasing the protection for the city and other worthy things have been done for the city.

The friends of Mr. Davis will welcome his announcement for this office. He has been promised liberal support and believes he will have no opposition for this place.

Former Cameron Man Is Accepted In The U. S. Custom Service

The Herald has received from H. W. Kincher of Houston the following clipping from the Williamson County Sun telling of the promotion of P. J. Huebner of Cameron:

P. J. Huebner, formerly of Cameron but who has been acting as substitute clerk at the Georgetown postoffice under Postmaster S. J. Enochs since the first of July, 1925, was notified Saturday that his examination had been declared satisfactory by the U. S. Civil Service Commission and was directed to report at Brownsville, Texas, to enter upon his duties as a custom officer. Mr. Huebner went to Brownsville several months ago and took the prescribed examination and was awarded the position which carries with it a salary of $3700.00 per year on the basis of that examination The position provides for an annual increase in salary amounting to $500 per year.

WINNER OF CONTEST WAS MILAM RESIDENT

G. MONT ADAMS WELL KNOWN AT MAYSFIELD WHERE BOYHOOD WAS SPENT

C. Mont Adams winner of the "more cotton on fewer acres" contest by the Dallas News for the state of Texas, in his boyhood attended school at Maysfield and was reared in that section of Milam County.

Mr. Adams' feat has aroused the farming interests of Texas and indications are there will be widespread cutting of cotton acreage and better cultivating and fertilization.

A number of former residents of Maysfield among them Van Tyson who was a schoolmate of Adams, and T. R. Vaughn who knew him as a resident, knew him well in those days. Mrs. Adams before her marriage was a Miss Vaughn.

The cotton contest in Milam County has been greatly stimulated and it is expected that scores of farmers will enter. The commercial club is offering $350 in prizes for the winners in the more cotton on fewer acres contest.

TRAIN FIRE WEDNESDAY THREATENS RAIL CENTER

BLAZING CARS SPRAY OIL ON HOUSE WHERE MEXICANS SLEEP

A blazing oil train containing crude from the University oil lands at Reagan pulling into the Santa Fe yards before daybreak Wednesday morning for a time threatened a large section of the city surrounding the rail district.

Several cars of the oil exploded, one car spraying a line of section houses where Mexicans lay sleeping at that early hour. It was said that one of the occupants, a woman, was injured and all narrowly escaped from the spraying oil flames.

A section of the wharf at the freight depot was burned as was a small seed house near the signal tower containing cotton seed for planting and owned by the first National Bank.

Firemen quickly put all equipment on the ground and with every foot of available hose were able to control the fire and save much property. Small ravines leading from the tracks were pits of flame for hundreds of yards through a portion of the negro quarters and the inhabitants fled to places of safety.

Joe Richter, night watchman at the Santa Fe said the train came into the yards blazing. Shots from his pistol and with the aid of others the alarm was sounded.

So far no estimate has been placed on the damage but it will run into many thousands of dollars.

Back Stage Scene Of Real Drama At The Prince Theatre

(Houston Chronicle)

Drama, far surpassing in heartaches the make believe being unfolded on the stage, was enacted at the Prince Theatre Sunday afternoon, when a mother faced her audience with a smile on her lips as her little girl was being rushed to the Baptist Hospital painfully burned.

Little 3-year-old Gloria Sadler was dressed in the filmy stage clothes for her vaudeville act and was romping about the corridor near the dressing rooms during the first act of the first show. She ran to the dressing room of two of the performers and playfully held the door closed and called, "You can't come out. You can't come out."

There was a scream and the performers saw that Gloria's dress was in flames. It had caught from a nearby stove. The child's flesh was burned before her grandmother, Mrs. W. T. Massengale, extinguished the blaze by wrapping a blanket about the terrified child.

Just then in the pit the orchestra began the opening measure of an Indian love song. It was the cue for Billie Sadler, the baby's mother to do her intermission specialty. There was time for one fleeting, agonized glimpse of the little girl before the mother walked out on the stage, upholding the tradition of the profession that no matter what personal grief may be in the performer's heart the audience must not be disappointed, the show must go on.

Gloria was taken to the Hospital in the automobile of Dr. F. H. Kilgore, who was called to the theatre. It is said that while the burns are very painful and it may be some time before Gloria is able to leave the hospital, she probably will not be permanently scarred. She is the daughter of Harley Sadler, producer.

The Sadler's are well known in Cameron, having played here on a number of times under the auspices of the American Legion. Mrs. Sadler was formerly Miss Billie Massengale of Cameron. Friends here read with anxiety the reports of injuries received by Little Miss Gloria Sadler.

The Buckholts Basket Ball team pased through Cameron en route from Sharpe Tuesday afternoon, elated over their victory in a game played with the Sharpe team that afternoon resulting in a score of 12 to 8 in favor of Buckholts.

APPELANTS IN SCHOOL SUIT WILL TEST RULE

WATSON TURNS DOWN PLEA OF PATRONS WHO PROTEST TRANSFER CHARGES

Notice has been received here by Don Slocomb one of the school patrons joining in the suit for injunction to restrain the school board from collecting transfer fees, that the court of Civil Appeals at Austin has granted a temporary injunction following appeal from the district court here in which Judge John Watson denied the injunction.

The case is to contest the right of the school board to collect transfer fees from pupils living outside the district. The suit is brought by Don Slocomb, Frank Brock, Wallace Moody, Joe Middleton, H. N. Maddox J. P. Hartsfield and others.

E. A. Camp as attorney for the appellants in his plea for an injunction assails the position of the board because it is not sustained by statute or law but seeks to enforce the collection by reason of a ruling made locally.

It is a well known fact even by the board members and those who sustain the board that the board is without authority in law to enforce the collection of transfer fees.

Judge Watson is denying the injunction gives no reason save and except it is denied. The object of the suit is primarily to stop the board from ousting the children and to test the right of the board to collect the fees in the absence of law.

MORE FARMERS ENTER THE COTTON CONTEST

SEVENTY-ONE SIGN FOR PRIZE OFFERS UNDER COMMERCIAL CLUB

Up to noon Thursday seventy-one farmers of Milam County had signed up for the "more cotton on fewer acres" contest now being conducted by the commercial club.

Of this number 54 are negroes. A total of 17 white farmers have entered. Names of the negro farmers appear in another column of this paper as well as the white farmers who have entered.

The meeting of the club Tuesday night was given over to a discussion of the contest. It is planned to have a county wide meeting at Cameron sometime soon to instruct the farmers on how to use fertilizer authorized under the rules of the contest.

W. O. Newton is an expert on the use of commercial fertilizer, as well as county agent, Geo. Banzhaf. They gave the club the benefit of their knowledge of fertilizer on Monday night. The committee in charge was congratulated on its success in moving the contest off.

The farmers who have entered the contest are to participate in the Dallas News contest and as soon as the blanks are ready they will be mailed to the farmers who have signed up.

Agent Banzhaf for the white and agent Williams for the negro farmers will co-operate in every way possible for the success of the campaign.

Communication from Polk C. Webb of Austin Texas states that the program for the all-day church and Bible school rally for the Missionary District meet to be held next Sunday, January 31, 1926 at Tracy, Milam County is a good one. All workers of the congregation of the Christian Churches are urged to have as large attendance as possible.

Wright Ellison of Baileyville was here on business Friday.

C. R. Henderson of Branchville was in Cameron on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Green of Temple spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Green.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON HOW TO LEAVE AN ESTATE

"Do you know, Aunty," said Helen, as she accepted a cup of tea from Aunt Emmy, "I feel terribly sorry for Mrs. Strong."

"Yes," agreed Aunt Emmy, "it will be hard for her. She is such a dependent, helpless, little thing."

"Oh, I don't mean that," interrupted Helen. "Her feelings are so hurt because, as she says, her husband publicly insulted her by not making her executrix and trustee of his estate."

"Good gracious, child, did she say that!" exclaimed Aunt Emmy, setting her cup down with a bang.

"Yes, she did, Aunty," said Helen, enjoying the sensation she had made and determined to make the most of it, "and I'm sure I agree with her. The idea of that old man appointing a trust company to look after Mrs. Strong's money. It isn't as though there wasn't plenty of it. The Strongs are the richest people in town, I guess."

"Well, for mercy's sakes!" cried Aunt Emmy, disgust in every syllable, "if it don't beat all! You are as big a fool as she is then!"

"What do you mean, Aunt Emmy?" asked Helen with dignity. "I think it nothing short of disgraceful for a man to show that he has no confidence in his wife by putting his money in strangers' hands to be doled out to her as they see fit."

"You never thought that up, Helen," said Aunt Emmy, "that's Mrs. Strong. She always talks as though she was living in a story book, poor, silly, little thing."

Helen blushed and Aunt Emmy went on—"Do you know what it means to administer an estate, especially a big one like Mr. Strong's?"

"Why, no," stammered Helen, "but it must be simple."

Aunt Emmy sniffed. "Simple! Let me tell you a little about it. When a man dies the things he owns cease for a time to be anybody's property and become his estate. The property passes from his control on his death naturally, and as his estate it is controlled and supervised by the Court which will be in charge of the estate for many months probably. First this Court finds out whether or not there is a will and if the will is valid. Then it must find out about the executor. If the will is properly drawn and valid, it will be 'admitted to probate.' The persons who witnessed it must be found and examined.

"The executor must satisfy the Court as to fitness and willingness to perform the many arduous duties involved. Perhaps he will have to furnish a bond, to assure the Court of his financial responsibility. He must assemble all the so-called assets, have them valued and file an inventory and appraisal of them with the Court. All the debts against the estate must be collected. The settlement of all claims against persons and corporations is a job no one without a thorough knowledge of business can undertake.

"In an estate like Mr. Strong's there is sure to be a certain amount of financial negotiation that demands banking knowledge. Then the executor must pay claims against the estate in the order of precedence laid down by law. Also you know state inheritance and federal estate taxes must be met promptly. Finally, after the estate is settled as to claims it has and claims against it, the executor must see that the various bequests are made."

"Oh, Aunty, don't tell me any more. I never thought that there were so many complicated things to be done. Poor Mrs. Strong never knew a thing about business."

"Mr. Strong knew that," remarked Aunt Emmy dryly, "and don't you suppose he had his children in mind, too? He wanted his estate handled so that the children and Mrs. Strong would be protected and assured of a good, comfortable living all their lives, with something to go on to the grandchildren. Even if Mrs. Strong were a business woman, no one could tell how long she would live to administer the estate. He knew that the trust company would not die, nor lose its faculties, nor be influenced by personal feeling so that it might be unjust to some one, and that it represents some of the best business and banking judgment in town."

"Well, I guess old man Strong knew what he was doing!" said Helen.—Anne B. Aymes.

The more recently adopted method of killing the common barberry which spreads black stem rust of small grains is by the use of such chemicals as salt and kerosene, according to the Department of Agriculture. These methods have several advantages over the digging method formerly used. They are less laborious, cheaper and more certain. This is especially true if bushes are growing in stony ground where digging is difficult. Department Circular 356 tells all about how to use this method.—Baker-Farmer.

The evening's program was a success and will long be remembered by those present.

MRS A. D. SLAUGHTER

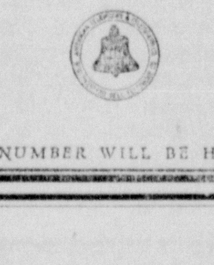
A large crowd and relatives attended the funeral of Mrs. A. D. Slaughter at the home of her son, Mr. D. H. Slaughter Sunday morning. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. E. S .Hutcherson, pastor of the Cameron Baptist church, assisted by Rev. R. S. Marshall, pastor of the Cameron Methodist church. After the service at the Slaughter home the interment followed at Walker's Creek Cemetery where the loved form was laid to rest beside her husband, John T. Slaughter, who died in Milam County February 14, 1893.

Mrs. Slaughter's maiden name was Miss Ann Davis Henderson. She was born in Alabama, October 3, 1861. She joined the Missionary Baptist church at Camp Hill, Alabama at the age of fifteen years and lived a consistent Christian woman to the day of her death.

She was married to John T. Slaughter on September 3, 1879. Five children were born to them, two boys, John Lester Slaughter and Daniel Hugo Slaughter, both of whom now live in Cameron and three girls, now Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Gandy of Houston, Mrs. J. L. Jamison of Temple and Mrs. J. R. Miller of Los Angeles California. All five of her children survive their mother. Mrs. Slaughter is also survived by one brother, W. Jesse Henderson of Columbus Georgia, and by two sisters, Mesdames Joe Boyd and Georgia Gunn of Ben Arnold, and by many relatives and friends in Texas and Alabama.

For some time she has been sick at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. K. Jamison of Temple but on last Wednesday she was brought in the ambulance from Temple to the home of her son, D. H. Slaughter, where she suffered a paralytic stroke from which she died Friday night.

"Sleep soft, beloved, we sometimes say,"
But have no time to charm away
Sad dreams that through the eyelids creep;
But never doleful dream again
Shall break the happy slumber when
God giveth His beloved sleep.
His dews drop mutely on the hill
His cloud above it lies so still
Tho on it's slope men toil and reap;
More softly than the dew is shed
Or cloud is floated overhead,
God giveth His beloved sleep."



"Long Distance" Made Convenient

TELEPHONE USERS here may henceforth give long distance calls of the kind known as "station-to-station" to the local operator who says "Number, please" when you lift the receiver.

The only proviso is that you must know the number of the distant telephone desired. For example, just say: "I want Houston, Preston 2000"

"Person-to-person" calls should be handled through the "long distance" operator as heretofore.

Number, please?

TO THE CAMERON BAPTIST

I wish to remind you that there will be some sermons and addresses at our church this week that will be worth your while. The Baptists from over the county will be here, and speakers have been secured for this program who will bring great inspirational messages. These messages will help you, and your pastor is counting on your presence. These services start Wednesday evening at 7:30. See the program on this page.

The following letter is from a College room-mate of the pastor's who is now a Foreign Missionary:

December 29, 1925.

Rev. E. S. Hutcherson,
Cameron, Texas.

Dear Bro. Hutcherson:

I am snatching a few moments to write you a word this morning. I think that I have written you two or three times but have failed to hear any thing in return. Perhaps the mails are bad.

We have just had Christmas here and it did not seem a bit like the Christmas in the states for the weather has been very warm the larger part of the time. Again, we have just organized our first Baptist state convention for this state. There were nine of the ten churches that we have working under our mission represented and one other Lettish church was received into the convention during the time of meeting, making ten. We have had thirty three baptisms making about sixty that should have been included in this years work. We organized one new church, received one into the state convention which now gives the number of eleven churches in this state. However, these churches are very small and have to be support ed by the mission. That is, what support they get, for it appears that we are to be cut off from help entirely Other people are doing the work. Time is rolling on. We need help.

Work has been begun this year that eternity alone will reveal the results. We have begun a campaign for a Baptist hospital, have about $60.00 in the fund, organized our Baptist state convention, began a school that enrolled fifty students more or less. We will continue the work this next year doing work on a larger scale, including some seminary classes. We have the grand sum of thirty five dollars of our own money to buy equipment with. We are blessed with good health, strong competition by Catholics, Methodists, Episcopalians, Adventists, Spiritualists, the devil and discouragement. We have a thousand other things to do but feel that unless we can begin at the ground with our people they will never be able to grasp the larger life in Christ Jesus.

This state is very much like the state of Texas in climate ,outlay and soil. It has abundance of fruit, watermelons, beans, corn, rice, etc., which makes it one of the leading states in Brazil. The state is largely populated by Germans and Italians. They make thrifty citizens but are very difficult to reach for the work of Baptists. However, there are a number of German Baptist churches in the state.

We have nine missionaries in the state and there about 75 counties to preach in. We have entered seven. There are a number of cities larger than Brownwood and Abiline in the state but we have no workers by which to enter these places.

How long must we wait for more help? I confess that we grow tired of seeing such needs without being able to do more to relieve the situation.

Blessings,
H. Smith.

Rub Rheumatism or Sore, Aching Joints

Rheumatism is "pain" only. Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right into your sore, stiff, aching joints and muscles, and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. "St. Jacobs Oil" has relieved millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains.

To the Voters of Cameron:

On account of the duties of office and the collection of taxes at this time of the year, I have not been able to make as extensive canvas of the voters as I desired and in this way I wish to solicit the vote and support of those with whom it has not been my pleasure to talk.

I will make an effort to see all of the voters in every section of the city before the election. It is probable that I will not be able to see some of them on account of the limited time allowed me after the tax collecting period and this is addressed to those with whom I may not meet. I want them to know that their vote is solicited for me and will be greatly appreciated.

The duties of my office at this time are heavy, being the annual tax collecting period, and desiring always to give the best of service I have not been able to go out and make an extensive canvas in my behalf. To all those with whom I have not been able to talk, I address this appeal with an earnest request for their vote and support.

Yours very truly,

DAN TYSON

Candidate Re-election Tax Assessor and Collector City of Cameron.

PLANS REVOLT IN HELL

Newark, N. J., Jan. 23.—Declaring he had friends both in Heaven and Hell, William Montgomery Brown, former Episcopal Bishop, who arrived here today to speak tomorrow, announced that "I don't care where I go."

"If I go down below just because I decided that I had a right to use my brains, I am going to have a fine time. As soon as I get to Hell, I will start a revolution there," the ousted clergyman said.

"I will get Ingersoll, Paine, Washington and Jefferson and all the college professors and editors who have gone before me, and we will start something. We will put out the fires and start the trees growing and make a real place of it."

"LAUGH IT OFF," SAYS AMARILLO MAN IN LETTER TO AMON CARTER ASKING SOME POINTED QUESTIONS

Following is a copy of a letter written by H. L. Mauldin, of Amarillo, to Amon G. Carter, of Fort Worth, which has been received by the Forum with permission from Mr. Mauldin for its publication:

"Mr. A. G. Carter, Fort Worth, Tex.

"My Dear Amon:—I am in receipt of your letter of December 18, in which you deny charges made against you by Governor Ferguson. And you say you waived certain rights as to libel law. Now Amon, isn't it true that you were afraid that if you brought suit they would prove it on you.

"You ask if I care nothing how the state's money is spent and go on as if everybody is dumb that don't get excited about this highway muddle. How did you stand with the two previous governors? Why didn't you become alarmed when our state's money was slipping away then? The several million dollars that was left in the state treasury when they kicked Jim Ferguson out. This together with a deficiency of three million dollars more making a total of nearly nine million dollars was spent by the two previous governors. Over seven hundred thousand dollars had to be borrowed to run the penitentiary while the state's cotton was bringing from 30c to 40c a pound. And as Ma has decreed that this is laugh month, please laugh it off.

"Our state was in a bankrupt condition. State employers were having to discount their warrants. Now mind you this all happened during the reign of one of the governors from whom you so proudly boast of having received your appointment as regent of the W. T. college. Why didn't you become alarmed then? Why did you wait until we had elected a governor that had put the state on a cash basis with the state's funds increasing by leaps and bounds? Did all this cause you to become so excited that you couldn't keep quiet at a football game and had to be escorted from the grounds by officers? Here is another good laugh.

"I am convinced that there might have been some carlessness in the highway department, but I was satisfied that the Fergusons would straighten it out. Which they have done, and we now have a new deal in highway officers and that is all any governor could do. As to the they only raised a point as to who had the authority to bring suit, the attorney general or the governor. The court decided in the favor of the attorney general and the decision was accepted and no objections raised.

"If the decision had been in favor of the governor I would bet she would have made a better settlement than was made by Dangerous Dan. No sane man believes that the American Road Company would have quit so easy if they hadn't been getting the best of the deal. No, they would still be fighting in the courts. The six hundred thousand dollars that you are trying to make the people believe they saved has dwindled down to two hundred and eighty-four thousand and their contract only half done. Who wouldn't give up a contract on these terms?

"Now Amon, if the state isn't in a better financial condition when the Fergusons go out than it was when your friends went out, I will be willing to subscribe for the Star-Telegram for the rest of my life.

"Yours for many a good laugh,
H. L. Mauldin,
"Amarillo, Texas, Jan. 3, 1926."

THE SOUTH MUST GROW ITS OWN FOOD

NO FARM SECTION CAN BUY ITS FOOD AND GRAIN AND BE PROSPEROUS

Atlanta, Ga.—(Special.)—Few people in the South realize the enormous drain there has been on the South's wealth through the steady food and grain buying during the past fifty years. What's the greater pity of it is the fact that most of this money comes directly out of the farm pocket," said H. G. Hastings, of Atlanta, Chairman of the Farm and Marketing Bureau of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

"For fifty years or more the cities and towns of the Cotton Belt have been furnishing food and grain to the farmer instead of our farmers feeding the cities and towns. While the cities and towns have had the best of this unnatural business, it has really impoverished both country and city."

"As nearly as can be ascertained, my own state of Georgia has spent in the last 25 years not less than two and one-half billion dollars for food and grain from the North and West, real hard cash money that ought to be sticking in our farmers' pockets. That money is gone never to return.

"It is no over-statement or exaggeration to say that twenty-five million dollars of the South's money has gone that way in the last fifty years. It was good, hard worked for farm money. What we have been doing is spending our lives growing cotton, trading it off for bread and meat at no profit to ourselves.

"No use to 'cuss' the powers that be in Washington or the trusts, tariff, banks or speculators. They may have had a part but a mighty small part in comparison with the part we ourselves have played. The way to stop that drain on our pockets is to stop buying food, grain and forage and produce those necessary items on home acres.

"The time to start is now. Plans for 1926 are being made. Before a plow is stuck in the ground, food, grain and forage acres should be set aside. These acres should and must be first instead of last consideration. When these are fixed, then the farmer can go as far as he likes with cotton, tobacco or other cash crop safely.

"Give the home garden a chance in this food production. It's a wonderful helper in cutting store bills in half for the folks that will give it a square deal instead of the usual 'lick and a promise,' mostly promise. Start the food production procession in 1926, and a money procession will start toward your pocket."

380 POLL TAXES ISSUED THORNDALE TO JAN 16

TAX COLLECTIONS CONSIDERED GOOD DESPITE THE CROP FAILURE

Tax Collector, Roy Law, accompanied by Mr. Flinn, an office assistant, spent Friday and Saturday here waiting on the tax payers of this community. The weather was not at all favorable, especially Saturday, when it rained practically all day intermittantly, but considering the weather the collections were good. A total of $11,765.00 was paid to the collector during the two days, $6,668.00 of which was collected Friday, and Mr. Law gave it as his opinion that the collections would have compared favorably with the best years had the weather been more favorable. A total of 380 poll taxes or more voters in this precinct. The following poll taxes have been paid in this justice precinct:

Thorndale	380
Salty	19
Ellison Ridge	38
Watson Branch	49
Conoley	56

Many more, of course will be paid before the end of the month which is the time limit for paying property taxes without penalty and also the limit to qualify as a voter in the coming primary and general election scheduled for this year.—Thorndale Champion.

CLASS DISTINCTION

Class dinstinctions are rapidly disappearing in England, according to Albert Mansbridge, an English educator new visiting in this country, and they are less noticeable in America to-day than ever before.

Many will recall how we used to hear about the so-called "four hundred" in cities and towns. It was considered that there was a certain exclusive set into which only favored few could climb. Many persons used to eat their hearts out because they could not get into this or that exclusive circle which seemed supremely desireable to them.

There is of course still something of this pushing and striving for supposed social advantage. But there is much more of that independent spirit today. People dislike to push in where they are not wanted. If they do not get invitations to a certain set, and to create some circle of their own where they will be welcome.

We used to hear much about the so-called aristocracy. Certain families were supposed to be on a high and separate level, owing in many cases to advantages of birth. That word is rarely heard now. People who have money and social position pride themselves on democratic spirit.

Some think money creates aristocratic position. But in many places people who command the highest respect are folks who have no great amount of money, but who by their brightness and personal charm and capacity for public service have made themselves the friends of everyone. The word "class" is hateful to American spirit, and that idea is fading out of our communities.

EMPLOYMENT OF MARRIED WOMEN

Some social reformers used to hope for the time when most of the married women would find it possible to get along without taking positions in factories, stores and offices. It was considered that a woman could not obtain the best results in the care of her family if she had to give the large amount of time necessary to hold any kind of regular job.

But the report recently given out by the women's bureau of the U. S. Department of labor shows that there were in 1920 nearly 2,000,000 married women who hold such positions. Instead of the number growing less, there were 53 per cent more of them than there were 10 years previous.

There are some who argue that the married women ought not to take such positions unless it is very necessary, as they think such ones take these jobs away from the unmarried ones, who have no husbands to support them. However, the industry of all these married women adds to the total production of the country, and creates a greater demand for commodities, so it must provide more work for the people to do.

If prices of household necessities keep up to their present level, many married women will probably feel that they want to do some work outside their homes. The young man with a little family often finds it pretty difficult to provide everything that they ought to have.

If married women feel that they must earn a certain amount of money to assist with home expenses, it would be helpful to many of them if they could find part time positions which would give them more time at home than they get if they work a straight eight hour day. The women who work long days and then come home and do the housework and care for the children, are apt to have a strenuous time of it, and many of them work beyond their strength.

THOSE WHO ARE DROPPED OUT

It was remarked a few days ago at a certain noted college, that 50 students were going to be dropped out at once. Probably there are many of these institutions that are letting more than that number go. It must be a somewhat trying experience for these young people, after all the splurge that is usually made in starting them through such an institution, to have them forced to return and confess failure.

High schools and academies also have to set back some who are not keeping up, and these young people find that the paths to learning are not an easy stroll.

Some probably take the don't care attitude, and intimate that education is over estimated. Some take such a set back pretty hard, but the parents usually feel a good deal worse than they do.

It is not necessarily any disgrace. It may be that such a one made a mistake in trying for that form of education. It might have been better to go to work or to select some more immediately practical course. Many are studying languages and mathematics who would better be preparing for excellence in factory work or farming.

Yet in many cases these dismissals could have been avoided if the students had taken hold of their work in earnest. They entered these institutions with a mistaken motive. They were looking more for social experience and prestige. If they had really comprehended the value of lessons well learned, they would have had little trouble.

The colleges are filling almost to overflowing, and they get plenty of students. Hence they can pick and choose those best adapted to education, and those who do not care to try and try hard can not expect anything but failure.

TWO STYLES OF PHILOSOPHY

A friend remarks concerning two men with whom he is acquainted in the ministerial profession, that the first one gives the impression that social institutions are so radically wrong that they must be destroyed and altogether new ones built up. After hearing him, he said, you feel as if you had to go out and smash something, you did not exactly know what. This always left him, he said, in a very unsatisfied state of mind.

The second of these two men, he said, had more confidence in the essential rightness of human nature. He seemed to feel that if people showed fine spirit and nobility of character, it would elicit the same qualities in those they met.

The first of these philosophies seems needlessly destructive, and the second perhaps more optimistic than the present state of the world will support. However, there is a great deal of latent usefulness and goodness in people that is never called out, but it might be if the right incentives were applied.

During the world war, we saw millions of Americans making great sacrifices for the common good. If there could be a quarter of that willingness to work for the community benefit which we saw during that period, our social problems would be largely solved.

The problem before the minister, the statesman, the editor, the teacher, is how to arouse the latent and quiescent impulses for good that lie at the bottom of people's nature, but will not get into activity unless there is some special incitement or enthusiasm to stir them up. The problems of society are going to be solved a good deal more by waking people up than by smashing the things they have already done. At least it looks so here in Cameron.

CONTROLL OF AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS

The increase of automobiles on the road, and the vast number of accidents constantly occurring, have created one of the most serious national problems in the history of our development.

Much is accomplished to hold down the reckless drivers wherever there are adequate laws well enforced. Thorough patrol of the roads and cancellation of licenses of reckless drivers so far as they can be discovered, always helps a lot.

But there will always be many accidents so long as many drivers are irresponsible. Even if drivers are examined, that can not wholly determine their fitness. They may drive very correctly when being tested, but after getting a license may drive so recklessly that they are sure sooner or later to get into trouble.

Many of the people who become involved in accidents are unusually skilful. They become over confident. In an unguarded moment things do not work as they expect, and the result is a destructive smash.

This problem is disucssed in the American City Magazine by Dr. F. A. Moss, secretary of the committee on causes of accidents of the Hoover conference on highway safety. The automobile dealers, he says, take care that their machines are up to the standard, but it is hardly possible to secure standard drivers. He notes that less than a fourth of the states examine drivers at all before allowing them to operate cars.

He thinks it is just as important for a driver to be able to move the foot from the accelerator to the brake in the proper limit of time, as to have the brake in good working order. He also feels that a driver should be able to pass certain tests showing that one has the judgement to meet certain critical situations.

AIMS OF CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS

The cities of Wisconsin have been scored according to the degrees of progress achieved in these respects:

Education. Library work, Industry, City Planning, Town and Country Relations, Recreation, Religion, Public Administration, Social work and Health.

It is significant that the majority of cities up to a comparatively recent period were standing pretty low on these lines. Many had no libraries, their industrial plants were aniquated, the towns and the country districts around them were antagonistic, they had few or no parks or playgrounds, their public administration was inefficient, their social agencies failed to relieve misfortune or to offer adequate guidance to struggling people, and they spent very little money for health measures. The average city has some distance to go before it measures up to high standards in all the above ten requirements.

Pioneer Milam County Woman Dead at 90 Years

"Warriors and statesmen have their need of praise,
And what they do or suffer men record,
And the heroism and sacrifice of Woman's days
No longer pass without a word."

Since woman was placed in the garden of Eden, she has figured in the drama of human progress for upon her hang the destinies of home, church, state and nation.

One of the pioneer women who for sixty three years made her home in and near Milano recently passed away and her life deserves a tribute. Mrs. Martha J. Carr Hooker, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Milam County died at the home of her son, Freeman Hooker, of the Rural Service in Milano, Texas, Thursday Januray 14, 1926 after an illness of several weeks at the age of eighty nine years, nine months and fifteen days.

She died in the triumph of faith and her loved ones are pleased to remember her shouts of praise and her words, "Glory to God" just before she pased over the dark river.

She is survived by three sons, G. D. Hooker, Brenham, Texas, Freeman Hooker, Milano, Texas, Charles Hooker, Lott (all of whom were with her when she pased away) and by twenty-four grand children, sixty one descendents who live in different parts of Texas.

On April 5, 1885 she was married to James D. Hooker, who was the grandson of John D. Hooker, a North Carolina patriot, who served in the American Revolution and a son of James W. Hooker, who served in the Seminole War under General Andrew Jackson. James D. Hooker received good educational advantages in Alabama and in 1850, when he came to Texas, entered Fowler Institute at Rusk. Later he taught school. He enlisted in the Confederate Cavalry in 1861 and with his family moved to Milam County in 1863 and engaged in teaching and farming. He was a local preacher of some note also.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooker settled on a farm near Milano before that town was on the map. In 1882 they moved to Milano where Mr. Hooker embarked in the mercantile business but continued to hold his farming interests and to preach also. They owned a wide tract of land between Gause and Milano. Mr. Hooker was a prominent citizen and was chosen by his friends and neighbors to represent them in County affairs. He served as commissioner of the county for two years.

The Hooker home was always the center of hospitality and many friends from all walks of life remember visits there. Mrs. Hooker, who was the daughter of Erastus and Mary Millican Carr, was a native of Tennessee who came to Cherokee County, Texas with her parents in 1843.

When a girl Mrs. Hooker was noted for her beauty and charm and was neat in dress and pleasing in manner and conversation as long as she lived. At an early age she joined the Methodist church and was a consistant member during her long life. As a housewife she was unexcelled. She was fond of flowers and children and flowers in season always abounded at the Hooker home.

Mrs. Hooker was the mother of six boys and six girls but all have passed away save her three sons.

Mrs. Hooker was in the full possession of her faculities and had good hearing, excellent health and memory and wonderful eyesight and had only worn glasses when reading for a year before her death.

She was much beloved by her friends and relatives. Her son, James Hooker, was once a Cameron business man and her granddaughter, Mrs. Sam Deer with her family live in Cameron now. Mrs. Deer attended the funeral of her grandmother in Milano. The funeral services were conducted by the Methodist and Baptist pastors from Rockdale, and interment was in the Milano Cemetery. The grave was fully covered by beautiful floral offerings sent by many loving relatives and friends.

BILIOUS SPELLS
Kentucky Man Finds Relief from Dizzy Attacks.
"I suffered with severe bilious attacks that came on two or three times each month," says Mr. J. P. Nevins, of Lawrenceburg, Ky.
"I would have dizziness and couldn't work.
"I would take pills until I was worn-out with them. I didn't seem to get relief. After taking the pills my bowels would act a couple or three times, then I would be very constipated.
"A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began its use. I never have found so much relief as it gave me. I would not be without it for anything.
"It seemed to cleanse my whole system and made me feel like new. I would take a few doses—get rid of the bile and have my usual clear head, feel full of 'pep' and could do twice the work."
Made from pure, medicinal roots and herbs, Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for such symptoms as the above, when due to a torpid liver.

Yoe Hi-Life

"Fish News."

The snow was not without its tragic features. Some snowballing ended in fights while many windshields were broken from stray missles of snow. Yoe-Hi enjoyed its last battle Monday at noon when a large crowd of boys waged a furious battle resulting in two broken windows.

Luckily for the Fish the snow was nearly all melted and they were not rolled, as is the custom when Cameron has snow.

The Freshmen History Exams. brought many startling facts to light. One Dumb Dora said that the Behistumtum Rock was a rock where some soldiers were going to be carved. Another said that the winner of the Olympic games in ancient Greece had a coral reef placed about his head.

Ode to H. D.'s Typewriter.

You're a bundle of junk
Your action is punk,
Your keys are all out of line;
Your bell doesn't ring,
You've lost all your polish and shine.

Your carriage is soiled
For it hasn't been oiled
Since in my possession you've been;
You rattle and squeak,
Your spring is weak,
For you're just about all in.

You're dirty and old
And you couldn't be sold
For more than a dollar or two;
But you've been a friend
From beginning to end,
And there's nothing I'd take for you.

The Soda Dispenser.

Oh, he fixes orange phosphates
And he fills our glass with fizz.
See how skillfully he'll toss plates
With a smile that is a whizz!

Oh, he siphons out our sodas,
Makes us frosted chocolates, too,
And he kids us Boys and Rhodas,
If we're feeling kind of blue.

Mirth he mixes with his sundaes,
Joy with every lemonade——
Thursdays, Saturdays, and Mondays,
Wednesays, Tuesays—sun or shade.

There he stands behind the fountain,
But no sad Niobe, he,
Dishing ice cream by the mountain,
Malted milk shakes by the sea.

Oh, his face is bright and shiny,
And he greets us with a grin.
Mixing potions, sweet or briny,
He will mix good humor in.

Just a soda, boy, ah, see the
Soothing drinks he makes to sip—
Yet, oh, me—he seems to be the
Only one we never tip.

It was early in the morning. He flung wide the massive portal, sweeping the interior with a piercing glance. Ten men sprang to their places and came to a swift attention before his severe scrutiny. There was a tense silence—no word was uttered. He calmly passed down the row of uniformed men standnig at attention.

Then, with a sudden energy, he flung off his coat, and cast off his collar. He swung around and faced the waiting line. His face was dark, and his glance was keen and strong. He picked his man. He advanced with a firm but cautious tread. He stopped two feet away. In a low guttural voice, full of meaning, he said: "I want a shave and a haircut."

In silent satisfaction,
She sweetly gave his kisses back
And said,
"Now, that's subtraction."

And he kissed her
And she kissed him

Then both together smiled
And said,

If Back Hurts Flush Kidneys
Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before breakfast occasionally.
Too much meat may form uric acid, which excites the kidneys; they become overworked; get sluggish, ache and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region; you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.
Drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to help neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in correcting kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

AT TEXAS A. & M.

College Station, Texas, January 27. The Knights of Columbus of this State will erect a two-story stucco chapel at the A. & M. College of Texas in the near future, which will cost approximately $20,000. The building will be located just outside the north gates of the college campus. The second story will be used as a chapel where services for the Catholic group will be held on Sundays, and the lower floor will be fitted out as a reading and entertainment room for the use of the Newman Club. Work on the structure is expected to begin within a month or six weeks.

College Station Tex. Jan. 27.—Roy M. Green, former professor of highway engineering at the A. & M. College of Texas and present president and general manager of Western Laboratories, Inc. of Lincoln Nebraska spoke to a gathering of civil engineering students of the college here this week, while a visitor on the campus. Mr. and Mrs. Green are enroute to Houston and stopped at the college for a visit with friends.

College Station, Tex. Jan. 27.—The Animal Husbandry Department of the A. & M. College of Texas has received a gift of a very fine bull calf from the firm of Sam Hill and Son of Tierra Alta, Texas. This firm has always been very friendly toward the College and has co-operated with the Animal Husbandry Department on a number of occasions. One of their steers, Tierra Alta 2nd, which was fed and shown by the college, was champion Angus steer at the 1922 American Royal and at the International at Chicago. At that time the Department was using a bull which belonged to the firm, Quoman of Tierra Alta. The animal was sire of a number of steers which made winnings for the College at a number of shows.

College Station, Tex. Jan. 27—.The Agronomy Department of the A. & M. College of Texas in inaugurating a field corps judging contest for the freshmen students of agriculture, under the direction of E. O. Pollock, professor of agronomy, with the first contest scheduled for January 23. The purpose of the contest is to give the students an opportunity to become thoroughly familiar with the important field corps of Texas early in their college course.

The students entering this contest will be required to identify types and varities of the more important field crops, to score on a commercial basis samples of wheat, corn, oats, grain sorghum, alfalfa, prairie and johnson grass and sorghum hays, and to score for their fancied characteristics ear and head samples of corn and grain sorghums.

The contest will be held annually hereafter and will eventually lead to the selection of a team composed of junior and senior students of agriculture to represent the College in the great field crops judging contest held each year at the International Grain and Hay Show, in connection with the International Livestock Exposition.

The six men who make the highest scores will be awarded a gold medal engraved with the name of the donor and the winner. These awards will be furnished this year by merchants of Bryan.

Business Women Promote Sale Of Memorial Coins

The Business and Professional Women's Club held a call meeting last Friday evening at their regular place of meeting, at 7:30 o'clock at the K. C. Hall, with the president, Miss Annie Stallsworth present, who called the meeting to order stating the business of the session, that of furthering the sale of the Stone Mountain Memorial Coins, which had been taken up by the sponsors of the Lions Club and the Business and Professional Club of Cameron, Misses Harriett Henderson and Jane Caton, respectively.

The meeting was turned over to the sponsor of the club, Miss Caton, who took charge of the program, the first of which was a reading by one of the members, Mrs. A. B. Guinn, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Hon. Paul Webb, City attorney, was then introduced, who gave a splendid talk on the Stone Mountain Memorial Drive, and concluded by paying a beautiful tribute to woman, and the part she playes in all places of interest.

Many of the members took coins to sell, and sold out in spite of the bad weather which has very greatly handicapped the disposing of these coins.

Since the time has been extended to February 28th, the club members are hopeful of "Going Over the Top". Let all who have not purchased a coin, do so, and thereby put Cameron on the record as one of the most patriotic towns in Texas.

Mrs. Alice Blankenship of Galveston is here on a visit to her mother, Mrs. M. W. Mitchell.

Lester Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Green, has begun Freshman work at the University of Texas. He is a roommate of his cousin Nelson Green and is most pleasantly situated in Austin.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the sheriff or any constable of Milam County,—Greeting.

You are hereby commanded to summon Jessie Woodard by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Milam County, to be holden at the courthouse thereof in Cameron, on the 1st day of March 1926, the same being the first Monday in March 1926, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 15th day of December 1925, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 9459, wherein Lela Woodard is plaintiff and Jessie Woodard is defendent said petition alleging statutory grounds of adunltry.

Herein fail not, but have before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, Penn Wolf, Clerk of the District Court of Milam County, Texas.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, in Cameron, this the 7th day of January A. D .1926.

NORMAN VALLEY NEWS

Old mother earth has put on her white dress and we are having cold weather. Most all the farmers around here got their land all beded up and we have been visited by two good rains the last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walle was in Cameron last week having dentist work done.

Finley Ditmar was listed with the sick last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Leonard's two little boys are very sick with pneumonia.

Miss Minnie Dreher of Rockdale left last week for Magnet for a short visit to her sister, Mrs. Ida Tyler and Miss Irene Dreher who is taking a course of Spanish in Magnet high school. Miss Dreher will soon become the bride of Mr. Alfred Rimmer of Wharton. They will go to Houston for their honeymoon trip to see Mr. Rimmer's brother and wife. They will make their home in Wharton county. Mis Dreher will be greatly missed here by her friends although we wish her and hers a long and happy life in her new home.

Mr. Milton rantetter was home one day last week, he is engaged in business at Rockdale.

The Valley school children are just doing fine with their work this year

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Perskey went to Rockdale last Thursday to see their mother, Mrs. W. J. Dreher.

Rufus Reichert is back from the Cameron Hospital.

The men folks around here pass away the time playing dominoes.

We have had the biggest snow that we had in years and it will be a great benefit to another years crop.

G. W. BATEY

Mr. George Walker Batey, an old time citizen of Milam County, who moved with his family to Waco last year that his grand children might have superior educational advantages, died in Waco Monday after an illness dating from October 1925, and was brought by his family to Milano for burial beside his son, John Batey, who died of pneumonia in the Base Hospital, San Antonio, Texas on February 5, 1919 and was buried with military honors during the World War.

The I. O. O. F. of Milano had charge of the burial rites for Mr Batey and Mr. W. O. Newton of Cameron read the service. A large crowd of Milano friends, many from his old neighborhood, several friends from Waco and Cameron attended the funeral.

Mr. Batey is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters, all of whom were with him in his last illness, except his son, Mr. Geo. Batey, now in Key West, Florida. During the World War three of Mr. Batey's sons, George Dewey, John Mordecai and Thomas Watson saw service.

His wife, Mrs. G. W. Batey, his sons, Messrs. Thomas and Lee Batey and his daughters, Mesdames Sterling Childress and Lottie Batey Shelton of Waco attended by friends brought the remains for interment to Milano.

George Walker Batey was born at Tunnel Hill, Georgia, June 3, 1847. He was married to Rebecca V. Albritton May 30, 1887. Eight children were born to them, five of whom with their mother survive. He was a member of the church of Christ about forty years. He was known as a good neighbor and a splendid citizen.

JOHN R. LUCE

Mr. John R. Luce of Buckholts was buried in Walker's Creek Cemetery Monday afternoon January 25, 1926. Rev. E. S. Hutcherson, pastor of the Cameron Baptist church conducted the funeral service at the Walkers Creek church. The Yarrelton Masonic Lodge had charge of the burial rites in the cemetery with Mr. Carrol Gibbs officiating as worshipful master. Masons from Buckholts and Cameron assisted members of the Yarrelton Lodge in the ceremonies.

Mr. Luce's death followed a protracted illness which he bore with great patience and fortitude. He always had a cheerful smile and friendly word for all. A large crowd of friends attended his funeral.

John R. Luce was born on December 5, 1852 in Anderson County, Texas. He was the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Luce, both Texas pioneers. His father was a native Texan born in 1824. During his father's absence in the Civil War, Mr. Luce was his mother's only dependence. He was but a lad at that time, but accepted the cares of a man of years and worked nobly for his mother and younger brothers and sisters.

Mr. Luce married Miss Lide Long and she with seven children survive him. They are Frank Luce, J. P. Luce of Bishop, Willard Luce of Houston, Mrs. Ruth Scott of Mineola, Mrs. Tom Choat, Mrs. R. B. Kirk. Mr. Luce is also survived by twenty two grandchildren, five great grandchildren two brothers, Joe N. Luce of Miles Texas and M. D .Luce of Houston and by two sisters Mesdames P. M. Delahunty and John Small of Walker's Creek. Mr. Luce joined the Baptist church at South Elm Creek camp meeting in August 1895, and was wiedly known and loved by hosts of friends.

Many Cameron Folks Are Showinng How To Avoid Needless Suffering.

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys—have brought peace and comfort to many Cameron people. Profit by this Cameron resident's experience:

S. E. Pitts, retired grocer, Nolan Ave., says: "My muscles were sore and lame and my back ached all the time. My Kidneys also gave me a lot of trouble. After using Doan's Pills, the trouble left me."

The above statement was given July 2, 1919 and on March 3, 1925. Mrs. Pitts added: "Whenever I use Doan's Pills, they always put my kidneys in first class order. This confirms my former statement."

These astonishing new figures represent more than a price reduction. They represent a price sensation!

At one stroke they eliminate the necessity for compromise in the purchase of a motor car.

They mean that henceforth no one need be forced by economy to invest in less than Dodge Brothers quality.

They mean that a car world-renowned for its long life and dependability is now well within reach of every income.

They are made possible by a $10,000,000 expansion program, vastly increasing production, and introducing the latest and most advanced efficiency processes into motor car manufacture.

They apply to the finest line of motor cars Dodge Brothers have ever produced—

Graceful and stylish new body lines. Rich and attractive new colors.

Absolute smoothness of engine operation—with new snap, power and silence.

Perfected steel body construction, affording among other things, complete vision from every angle, greater safety, greater beauty and longer car life.

"ELECTRICITY ON THE FARM"-- RADIO TALK, J. W. CARPENTER

Increased Profits Under Present Conditions on the Farm is Discussed by General Manager, Texas Power & Light Co.

Editor's Note: The following address was delivered over Station WFAA, Dallas. Mr. Carpenter was born and reared on a Texas farm and still holds his farm interests.

The use of electricity for commercial and domestic purposes had its beginning in the year 1881. That was the year that I was born, on a farm in Navarro County, and, naturally, it was the beginning of my observations of farm life and the many influences and conditions which affect me.

While many refinements and improvements have been wrought in the methods and practices employed in the operation of the farm, very little naturally, could be done toward employing electricity for farm use until within the last eight or ten years. That has been true because the equipment for producing electricity and the methods of transmitting it have not been, until the more recent years, refined and perfected to where it has been feasible or possible, from the standpoint of sound economics, to undertake a very wide distribution of electricity to the rural communities.

The pioneers of the electrical industry, however, have been continuously giving study to the needs of the farmer and have been giving consideration all the while to his relationship to his brothers who live in the city, including the economic relationship of the industry of farming with the commercial industries of the cities and towns of our country.

Right along with the progress of the electrical industry, while ways have been evolved for supplying service to the more thickly populated sections of our country, consideration has been simultaneously given to research and endeavors to find ways and means for supplying the needs of the rural population with electricity.

The farmers of America today are the second largest users of power in the United States of America. The American farmer ranks next to the railroads and leads both the manufacturing and mining industries in the use of power. According to a report just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, approximately 69% of the power utilized on farms is animal power. Tractors account for nearly 17%, motor trucks about 4%, stationary engines 12.5% windmills a little more than 1% and electrical installations 5.5%.

Just how will electricity fit into farm life and be employed for farm use? That question has been successfully answered in several sections of the United States, including a number of concrete examples in Texas. Quite a few farms in Texas are employing electricity as a regular farm worker. Electricity is pumping the water for the household and for the stock and is ever ready, both day and night, to supply this need of man and beast. This farm servant stands ever ready in the form of illumination for the farm home and the farm buildings. Electricity affords a safe, fireproof light that is not subject to the eccentricities peculiar to the kerosene lamp and lantern.

Electricity, when called into service, will perform the many routine household duties that wear down the energy of the woman of the home. Churning, sweeping, ironing, washing, cooking and dozens of lesser tasks can be finished in a fraction of the time that is required when electricity's aid is not called in.

The electric refrigerator, alone, solves one of the pressing farm problems of today. It is no longer necessary for the farmer who uses electricity to make repeated trips to the nearest town to maintain a constant supply of ice to preserve household foods and keep perishable farm products wholesome until they can be taken to market. Many farmers are finding that an electric motor, mounted on a small wagon, can for the farmer do indispensable service. Such a utility motor can be moved to many parts of the farm yard and do work in a few moments that would require hours by hand, such as driving the ensilage mill and conveying its output into the silo. Sawing wood, operating a grindstone or emery wheel, grinding grain and other odd jobs are quickly done on the farm when electricity is employed.

Just as electricity serves the inhabitants of the cities and of the towns, both in their homes and in their factories, it should also serve the rural population of our country. Electricity has been the means of greater efficiencies and broader accomplishments in such industries of our land as the railway shops, cotton mills, flour mills, water pumping plants, oil mills, machine shops and various kinds of manufacturing establishments, and will be on the farms. The Company with which I am connected supplies electricity to more than 100 municipalities which use it as motive power for the operation of municipal water pumping plants and for the lighting of their streets at night, some of this service extending into rural territory. My company also supplies electricity which drives machinery in more than 300 gins in Texas, which is in this way, though indirectly, serving the cotton farmers in Texas.

If the various applications of electricity—light, heat and power—were not successful, economical and satisfactory to those who have tried it and are using it, it is evident that its use would be discontinued, but experience has proven that this seemingly mysterious force was discovered and is being used for the benefit of mankind successfully and profitably. Those men who have been the leaders in the development of the electrical industry have wrought an inestimable service to mankind. Men are devoting their lives and their resources to the carrying on of research and development in the electrical field toward the goal of accomplishing the end that many people in the rural communities of this country may, by co-operation with their efforts and resources, enjoy the benefits and values that electricity can bring to them through Electricity on the Farm.

In addition, much research is being carried on at this time in connection with the problem of carrying electricity to the farm by men engaged in the business of producing and supplying electricity to the people of Texas, who are co-ordinating their efforts toward this end. We are working in conjunction with the research which is being made along this line at the Agricultural & Mechanical College of Texas, at College Station, and at the Texas Technological College, at Lubbock. Professor D. Scostes, who is Professor of the Department of Agricultural Engineering at the Agricltural and Mechanical College of Texas, is taking a leading and active part in connection with the broadening of the use of electricity on the farms of Texas. He, as an Agricultural Engineer, in a number of places in Texas, assisted by the County Agricultural Agent, is making studies of the farm and farmstead to determine how electricity can best be made to serve the business of the farm and home, and co-operating with him are the electric service companies. At committee meetings which have been held, discussions have resulted in materal progress towards the further electrification of Texas farms. Questions of mutual interest to the farmers and to the companies supplying the electrical energy have been discussed; such as questions surrounding the farmers' need of the service and the cost of the line extensions necessary to serve them, and the cost of producing and supplying the energy after the lines have been built. It of course is necessary, in order that sound accomplishment may result, that all parties interested in this development should become acquainted with the other man's problems and that they mutually work together for the solution of their problems.

The problem of cost is of prime importance and, for that reason, is receiving and should receive thorough attention. It involves the following factors:

1. Interest on the investment in generating plants and transmission and distributing circuits.
2. Depreciation on the above.
3. Maintenance of same.
4. Cost of generating and supplying the energy to the lines. There are also other costs, such as the expense of clerical help, line patrolmen, etc.

It is my belief that four distinct advantages will come from electrifying agriculture, as follows: Farm profits will be increased by reducing production costs and eliminating waste. Farm and home labors will be lightened and farm home life improved. Agriculture will be industrialized and farmers will become better business men in the agricultural way. Rural social life will be distinctly improved.

I am glad to have had this opportunity to talk upon this subject because, as I told you in the beginning I was born and reared upon a Texas farm and have, all my life, been closely identified with the farm, and being also identified in an electrical business, it affords me much pleasure and satisfaction to have an opportunity to tell you of the work being done all over the country and by the Rural Lines Committee here in Texas in an endeavor to work out some of the problems that will result in a broader service to the farmer.

V A. MARTIN ENDS OWN LIFE AT HARLINGEN

A FORMER THORNDALE BOY DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID AT HARLINGEN

V. H. Martin, 30 years of age, formerly of Thorndale, but for the past five years living at Harlingen, ended his own life Wednesday by drinking a quantity of carbolic acid. Mr. Martin was formerly employed as a meat cutter in the Gresham & Locklin Market here and was a very useful and efficient market man. He left Thorndale about five years ago for Harlingen and has resided there since leaving Thorndale. No explanation was made for the rash act but it is known that he was despondent for some time previous to his death. The deceased is survived by his mother at Breckenridge and a brother whose whereabouts is unknown here. Burial was made at Harlingen.—Thorndale Champion.

Mrs. Martha S. Kornegay of Hanover aged 78, died Saturday and was buried Sunday, January 24, 1926 at 3 p. m. at the Pine Oak Cemetery. Rev. R. S. Marshall, pastor of the Cameron Methodist church officiating. Mrs. Kornegay was born April 18, 1846 in Georgia and came to Texas when young with her parents. Mrs. Kornegay was a long time resident of Milam County and was the mother of fourteen children. She was a kind motherly Christian beloved by all and news of her death will make sad a wide circle of relatives and friends.

"The first time I took Cardui, I was in an awful bad way," says Mrs. Ora Carlile, R. F. D. 5, Troup, Texas.

"I was afflicted with awful smothering spells. My mother had some Cardui in the house that she was taking, so she immediately began giving it to me. In a few days I got all right.

"Last fall I got run-down in health. I was weak and puny and I began to suffer with . . . I would get so I could hardly walk. Having taken Cardui before, I sent to the store for a bottle of it.

"Almost from the first dose I could feel the improvement. . . . I am much better now.

"Cardui has helped me a lot and I am glad to recommend it. I don't feel like the same woman I was last fall.

"My appetite is good now, and I'm sure it's Cardui that's made it pick up, for in the fall I had no relish for food at all, while now I'm hungry for my meals."

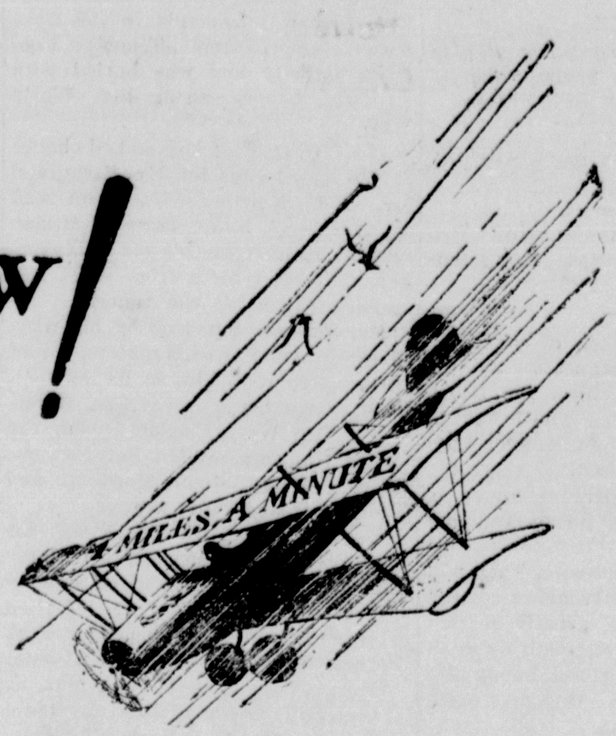
Slow!



You beat this record every day

You could, conceivably, drive an airplane at four miles a minute. It has been done! Yet this great speed is like standing still—compared to the 186,000 miles per second at which electricity drives through the wires to your home.

Your control of electric light and power is practically instantaneous in response to the snap of a switch.

But the natural speed of electricity is not enough to work this wonder. That's where we come in—with men and equipment to see that you get continued service. The Texas Public Utilities Company is constantly alert to satisfy your demands—the more alert because these demands come without a second's warning.

So snap your switches all you please. That's the signal at our plants to "make it snappy."

'All Religion Tottering,' Says Burbank; Is Infidel

'They Have Belied Christ'

Declaring all religions are on a tottering foundation, Luther Burbank, the great horticulturalist, admits he is an infidel.

In a statement thought to have been caused by the comment of his friend, Henry Ford, on life and religion, Burbank says that "all religions of the past and probably all of the future will sooner or later become petrified forms instead of living helps to mankind. As a scientist I cannot help feel that all religions are on a tottering foundation. None is perfect or inspired.

"The idea that a good man would send people to a burning hell is utterly damnable to me. I don't want anything to do with a God like that.

" I do not believe what has been served me to believe. I am a doubter, a questioner, a skeptic. When it can be proved to me that there is immortality, that there is resurrection beyond the gates of death, then will I believe. Until then, no."

Burbank's statement was contained in a copywrited article in the San Fransico Bulletin Friday.

Ford recently outlined his beliefs on life and religion in an interview in a national magazine. The motor car manufacturer's conception, as expressed by a person closely in touch with him, is that we are put in this world to gain experience; that this experience will aid us in the future life because life does not begin here or end here, and that what we call faith is merely lost knowledge of how we came to be here and where the spirit goes after death. Life goes on continually and this earth may be just a clearing house among the great planets of the universe, he believes.

Burbank contends that "the universe is not big enough to contain perpetually all the human souls and the other living beings that have been here for their short span. A theory of personal resurrection or reincarnation of the individual is untenable when we but pause to consider the magnitude of the idea.

"On the contrary I must believe that, rather than the survival of all, we must look for survival only in the spirit of the good we have done in passing through.

"I do recognize the existence of a great universal power—a power which we can't even begin to comprehend and might as well not attempt to. It may be a conscious mind and it may not. I don't know. As a scientist I should like to know, but as a man I am not so vitally concerned.

"As for Christ—well, He has been most outrageously belied. His followers have so garbled His word and conduct that many of them no longer apply to present life. Christ was an infidel of His day, because He rebelled against the prevailing religion and government.

"I am a lover of Christ as a man and His works and all things that help humanity, but nevertheless, just as He was an infidel then, I am an infidel today."

CLUB IS FOR HIGHWAY THROUGH TO ELGIN

THORNDALE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ASKS AID OF CAMERON CLUB

At a meeting Monday night the Commercial Club endorsed the proposed designation of a highway from Cameron to Elgin by way of Thorndale and Beaukiss to Elgin.

Smith Summerlin, secretary of the Thorndale club in a communication asked the local club to lend its endorsement.

In the last issue of the Thorndale Champion the following was printed:

Considerable new business was taken up and given consideration at the meeting of the Thorndale Commercial Club, held last Thursday evening, January 14th, with all members of the board present except two. Among the new business taken up by the club was a resolution authorizing the circulation of petitions at Cameron, Buckholts, San Gabriel, Thorndale, Beaukiss and Elgin, calling upon the state highway commission to have the road leading from Cameron to Thorndale, via Lilac, San Gabriel and on to Beaukiss to Elgin designated as a state highway. Citizens of the respective places along the route will be asked to co-operate with the Thorndale club in circulating the petitions and securing the designation, in order that state and federal aid may be obtained. This route at present is passable in dry weather but is not in condition to appeal to tourists and the general public, however, with aid from the state and federal governments the route could be made as good as any in the state. This new route as proposed by the club is a much needed one, and would make this community neighbors of the territory on our south, which ordinarily cannot be reached only by detour by way of Taylor, hence south. The club is to be commended on their effort to open this route into new territory and should be given the hearty support and co-operation of all Thorndale citizens, as well as the various communities through which the road would pass.

Sulphur Well May Be Developed

Kenneth Culver appeared before the club in the interest of the sulphur well located about one mile east of town, and asked the co-operation of the club in developing this "invalid's shrine," which has many ailments and cures accredited to its mineral properties. The club assured Mr. Culver of its hearty co-operation towards an end of developing this enterprise in the near future. Mr. Culver is planning the organization of a stock company, to be incorporated and sell stock sufficient to develop the property.

Will Ask Highway Commission To Begin Work On Highway

The delay in the work on the highway through Thorndale by the state highway commission was discussed by the club and it was the opinion of the members that the club ask the directors of the Rockdale chamber of commerce, and the commissioners court to join the local organization in going before the commission at its next regular meeting in an effort to stimulate action and get work started on the designated highway known as No. 43 which joins Taylor, Thorndale and Rockdale.

New Rural Route Mapped Out—Old One Is Revised

Another new rural route which will probably be known as route No. 3, and covering the territory between Thorndale and Salty with some 110 signitures has been completed and sent to the postal authorities at Washington for their approval.

Route No. two which covers the Conoley and adjacent territory has been revised and takes in new territory, heretofore not covered, while the new route takes in some of the No. 2 route. Considerable time has been spent in outlining this new route and the revising of Route two, and they have been routed over roads that are thought will meet with the approval of inspectors upon their examination of the proposed new route and the revision of the old route.

DODGE BROTHERS HAVE BUILT 1,500,000 CARS

11 YEARS, 2 MONTHS HAVE ELAPSED SINCE THEIR FIRST CAR WAS PRODUCED

The building of 1,500,000 Dodge Brothers Motor Cars was completed Thursday January 14th at 10:15 a. m. just 11 years and 2 months after the first car bearing the name rolled from the assembly line. This production record stands as an achievement never approached by any other motor car maker in an equal time after the building of his first car.

Car number 1,500,000 a special touring car, although greatly refined in point of beauty and riding comfort, shows an family resemblance to the first of this noted line, thanks to Dodge Brothers sound policy of constantly improving a standard basic design. During the production of this immense number of cars there has never been an annual model, never a change that was not a distinct betterment.

The dates when Dodge Brothers output passed important production figures show clearly the continuously accelerated demand for the product. The first car was built November 14, 1914.

The first 100,000 cars were completed in 23 days less than two years. The 500,000th car was completed on June 30, 1920, 3 years 9 months later. Car 1,000,000 rolled off the line December 12, 1923, 3 years 5 months and 12 days later. 1,000,000 cars had been produced in 9 years and 1 month.

The last half million cars were produced in 2 years, 1 month and 2 days, an interesting record compared with five and a half years for the first half million.

The last 100,000 were built in 5 months and 9 days—the first 100,000 in a few days less than two years.

Car No. 1,500,000 as soon as it had been checked by the final inspection department was shipped to the Albertson Motor Company of Los Angeles, Cal. Albertson "Scout Cars" have long been familiar sights on the roads of California where they are in constant service laying out and rechecking tourist routes and investigating road conditions for newspapers and the automobile clubs. The members of the fleet are Dodge Brothers cars Nos. 300,000; 600,000; 900,000 and 1,200,000. And now car No. 1,500,000 is on its way to take its place in the well known scout fleet. The Albertson Motor Company has a standing order with Dodge Brothers, Inc., for every 300,000th car.

In fact many dealers have filed advance orders for cars which mark the completion of large round numbers in production. For instance, W. L. Eaton, Dodge Brothers dealer in Seattle, Washington, has filed an order for car 2,000,000.

A record for having built a solid million and a half motor cars in a little over eleven years invites attention to Dodge Brothers production and sales policies. Undoubtedly the policy to which their success should be attibuted more than to the others is that which is now associated with Dodge Bothers name whenever the problem of annual models and rapid depreciation is discussed—that is the policy expressed in the words, "Constantly Improver but no yearly models."

Strong public demands has kept production capacity of the plant constantly improved but no yearly modiginal plant of 20 acres of floor space has been constantly expanded to its present size of 130 acres. The expansion program completed during the last few months at an expenditure of $10,000,000 gives Dodge Brothers, Inc., a present capacity of 1500 motor cars per day.

LOCAL POLITICAL POT STARTS TO BOILING

With the announcement of H. O. Hollowell in this issue of the Champion for public weigher, local politics is beginning to gather momentum, and create interest as is the custom about this time of election year. H. H. Moore, who was candidate for Commissioner of this precinct at the election held two years ago, is considering making the race again, having been urged by a number of his friends and supporters to do so. Mr. Moore has not definitely decided at this time as to whether or not he will enter the race.—Thorndale Champinon.

Mrs. Fannie Tuttle returned Thursday from Temple where she has been with her daughter, Mrs. Lilian Tuttle Vest for some time at the Temple Sanitarium, where Mrs. Vest underwent an operation last Thursday. Mrs. Vest is doing nicely and will be brought to her mother's home here after she becomes stronger for a period of rest and recuperation before returning to her home near San Marcos.

PLANNED TO TAKE HIS LIFE, MAN CHEERED ON BY CAMERON GIRLS; TELLS HOW LIFE WAS SAVED

An old man sitting in the snow and writing in a small note book instructions for the disposal of his body was saved from suicide here Sunday by the timely appearance of four small girls of Cameron who were out for a walk in the snow and to take some pictures.

The story of how this man was saved from suicide was told from the pulpit of the Baptist church Sunday night by E. S. Hutcherson, pastor, who had received through the mails that day a letter from the man who had gone on to Waco from Cameron. He told in this letter how that he reached the end of the journey of life and being dispondent, sat down by the Santa Fe railroad tracks in east Cameron to end his life by poison. He said he procured the poison and was writing the note when the girls came along, spoke to him and offered to take his picture.

The man did not tell the girls of his intentions but wrote the details of how he planned to end his life in the letter received by the Baptist pastor. He said that he owes his life to the girls and was interested in securing their names and knew of no better way to obtain them than writing to the pastor. He says he is a Baptist.

After the girls had taken his picture and had talked to him. The old man went on, still holding in his heart the secret of his tragic resolve and how he was saved from death by their words of cheer which spoken without knowledge of his intentions bade him look beyond the shadows.

The girls were Misses Nancy Ree Sclocomb, Cora Barmore, Frances Sharpe and Cecil Klawansky. The story told at the church service gave the girls their first knowledge of how they had saved the life of the aged man.

Waco, Texas, Jan. 20, 1926

Pastor First Baptist Church,
Cameron, Texas.
Dear Sir and Brother:

Pardon me for writing this letter; the events leading up to it may mean nothing to you but to me much.

Last Sunday, the 17th, I was in your city without money and a place to lay my head.

I had not eaten for forty eight hours, and beg, I would not. I have been held up and all my money taken, not in your city. I am past the meredian of life. My life has been one of hard work. I have earned many thousands of dollars and have always been a liberal giver to every thing that has gone to uplift man, but through some bad investments and false friends, I have but a few hundred left and that money is not near me. It would have taken two or three days to have proven up a check, and in the meantime what could I do? No one wants to hire a man past sixty years.

I was sick both of body and mind. I was not yet recovered from a severe attack of heart trouble and my profession tells me that it comes again at any time. It was my business for 25 years to treat the sick.

That afternoon I walked down the Santa Fe tracks with the intentions of ending it all. I had enough heart medicine in my pocket to do the deed by taking all at one time. I walked as far along the track as the first target and sat down on the battery boxes and was writing a little about my life, when four happy girls came along and to them I owe much. They at once became my friends.

They were not rude, but in their perfect innocence they made me look at life in a different light. I entered into the spirit of their innocent adventure. They treated me as if they had known me the whole of their short lives, nothing rude but just pure breeding, the teaching of good pure mothers.

I did not ask their names, nor they mine. I soon left them at their play and walked along the track, almost to the bridge thinking the matter over, and at last came to the conclusion that I was in the wrong. Those innocent girls showed me the right way. I turned, walked back to the depot, and spent the night in the warm waiting room, for which I am thankful to the agent.

Monday I started to walk here but some unseen power caused two autoists to ask me to ride. I did not eat until Monday evening. I am among friends.

Here is the point, I owe my life to those four girls and I wish to thank them but know not how to reach them. It may be possible that one, or perhaps all, may be members of your church or Sunday School. If possible let them know of the good deed they did. May God bless them, and give them a long, happy useful life. I am a lonely old man. I write you because you are of my faith. Remember me in your prayers.

LOCAL CONFEDERATE HISTORY

The following petition and order made June 15, 1864, gives a glimpse of local confederate history which should interest all who remember an old time citizen of Milam County, who about 1861 had a shop in the San Gabriel community, and know his widow, Mrs. W. L. Lutner, and his daughter, Mrs. W. G. Allen, who live in Cameron now. The esteem in which Mr. W. L. Lutner was held by his neighbors, his skill as a blacksmith and his worth to the confederacy are all set forth in the petition which is now in the possession of his widow, Mrs. W. L. Lutner and of which the following is a copy:

Milam County, Texas.
To the Commanding General,
Department of Texas:

We, citizens of Milam County, state of Texas, would most respectfully represent that our neighborhood is entirely destitute of a blacksmith and it is nearly impossible to get our farming utensils so as to enable many of us even to plant our crops and without aid from some source, we and our families will suffer. In this extremity, we appeal to the Commanding General, having the utmost confidence in his willingness not only to do all i nhis power to drive back invading foe, but also to hear the appeal of the people for relief, therefore would ask that Wm. L. Lutner, a private of Capt. Carter Co. "D" of the fourth regiment L. C. 1st Brigade of General Green's Division be detailed for a suitable length of time for this purpose. This appeal is made without the knowledge of the said soldier and we select him because he has a shop and tools in this neighborhood. February 1864.

Mrs. Annie E. Leseur, A. Lloyd, S. B. Robinson, Sarah A. Reed, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. N. Jones, Mrs. Dallie Winegerth, E. L. Compton, Didana Shelley, Malinda Allen, Margaret Cook, Geo. M. Kessel, S. Connell, Sarah I. Connell, I. Wills, Mary Wills, Geo. W. Christian, Perlina Studes, Mary C. Smith, Loucinda E. Dalles, D. Gilleland, Mrs. Florida King, Mrs. Carry Hughes, Mrs. Emaly Hughes, Mrs. Sara Bennett, Mrs. C. Smith, D. G. Davis, J. M. Davis, A. C. Harris, Mrs. E. A. Ragsdale, S. A. Harris, S. A. Williams, John A. Heiskell and W. P. Worman.

I am willing, the detail to be made until June 15, '64.

H. G. Carter, Capt. Comd'g Co. D.

Approved and very respectfully forwarded,

Homer Green, Brig. Gen'l Comd'g. Cav. Division.

Headquarters Dist. Texas and C. Houston March 14, '64.

This regiment is on its way to meet the enemy and this man cannot be spared from it.

Drink Water If Kidneys Hurt

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back pains or Bladder bothers.

Too much meat may produce uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back, or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to help neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to help to keep the kidneys clean and active. Drink plenty of water at all times.

SHADOWS AGAINST AN OLD FARM HOUSE.

By Max Reynolds, Dallas.

Out of the still, quiet
Darkness
Vague and fluttering
Shadows appear
Against the wall
Of an old, white-washed
Farm House,
The stars glitter
And short sprays
Of gleaming, white
Bubbles fall
On the flowers.
The air smells
Of honey, clover
And restfulness.

TO MY HEARTS DESIRE

By Nell Conoley, Thorndale

As we drift down the stream of T
The way so weary and long
I wonder if you will forget me
In life's gay whirl and song.
If I sink into despair, dear,
And you true happiness find
I wonder if you will remember
The one you left behind.
The one who thinks of you always,
The one whom you made sad,
I wonder if you could remember
And still be gay and glad.
My heart is filled with longing,
And I know not what to say
But my prayer, my hope will ever be
That you will come back some day.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.
